

EDUCATION THAT WORKS

2025 Annual Report

A Message From the President

Academic Year 2025 was another record-setting year for Gwinnett Tech.

Our credit student enrollment soared to over 15,000 for the first time.

We appreciate the students who choose to come to Gwinnett Tech to change their lives, and in many cases, the lives of their families forever. Having a meaningful, high-demand career is not only a way to bring financial stability, but it also brings personal satisfaction in doing something you love. Our students are the backbone of Georgia's workforce, and I believe they are the most important piece in ensuring Georgia's business and industry community can continue to thrive and be successful. Thank you to all our faculty, staff, students, and business community for making 2025 a year to remember and setting the stage for an even greater 2026.

2025 Award Winners

Perkins Winner

Gwinnett Technical College Names Humanities Program Director, Mohamed Belal, 2025 Rick Perkins Instructor of the Year. "I love the moment when a concept 'clicks' for a student, their confidence grows, and they realize what they're capable of achieving. My inspiration comes from seeing my students succeed, whether they earn certifications, start careers, or simply gain the confidence to tackle challenges. Watching them transform their lives through education and achieve their career dreams is deeply rewarding."

GOAL Winner

Gwinnett Technical College Engineering student Thomas Schoolcraft was named the Georgia Occupational Award (GOAL) of Leadership winner. "I'm grateful and a bit surprised to be named the GOAL winner. People seem interested in hearing me talk about my positive experiences at technical college. It's encouraging to know that my hard work and the positive changes in my outlook are being noticed."

EAGLE Winner

Logan Hawkins was chosen to represent Gwinnett Technical College at the statewide EAGLE (Exceptional Adult Georgian in Literacy Education). In the future, I envision myself as a business owner, sharing my knowledge and work ethic, with the goal of helping others achieve success. An established career will positively impact my life and future goals, enabling me to become more self-sufficient. Taking care of my family has always been my dream, and it will now become a reality."
